Internships and practical training

Student placements are an important part of the course. Students of undergraduate and long-cycle master's programmes complete 960 hours of placement (24 weeks), gaining valuable professional experience. If you already work in a role related to your field of study, your employment may count towards the placement requirement. During your studies, you also have the opportunity to take part in a paid internship. Internship programmes are prepared by our partner employers, who tailor the requirements to specific positions, helping you take your first steps in your career.

Study completion requirements

You will work in a team to create a diploma project that addresses a practical or theoretical problem related to your field of study. By researching the literature and conducting your own analyses, you will develop an original proposal for solving the problem. Everything you learn during your studies will enable you to create a professional project based on real data and practical work. To obtain your bachelor's degree, you must defend this project before an examination board. You set the direction of your own project!
